Athletics

A modern high school must have its athletics. Caney high school furnishes athletics in the following sports for boys: football, basketball and baseball, and in its physical education classes for boys and girls. Students of the Freshmen and Sophomore years are required to take physical education. Coach F. J. Campbell having charge of the boys' classes and Miss Wilma Francis for girls.

The girls have given several public demonstrations of the work they are doing and each time received a hearty commendation.

Caney, for years, has been a member of the Verdigris Valley league. But this league disbanded last year so a new league, the South Central Kansas league, was formed, using the Chautauqua county league as a basis. Twelve schools are in the league. They are: Caney, Sedan, Elgin, Peru, Chautauqua, Elk City, Elk Falls, Moline, Howard, Grenola, Longton and Cedarvale. A series of basketball games were played this year, Grenola taking first place. Caney, Peru, Elgin and Chautauqua formed a baseball league. Many of the teams will be in a football league next fall.

Football

Caney did not get to play football the fall of 1928, so Coach Campbell had a serious task set for him, especially so because of the strong schedule. While Caney lost all the games but one, a large group of Sophomores and Juniors were trained in the fundamentals of football from which to make a stronger team next year. The Seniors who go out this spring will be missed, but prospects for football this coming year are very good.

COACH CAMPBELL

Campbell came here after school had started, taking C. L. Hill's place who had resigned and gone to Tulsa to teach. Campbell came here from Chase, Kansas where he had coached for two years. All of his teams there were successful. Campbell attended Pittsburg where he made All State tackle for two years. He played tackle in '24 when they were State Champions. He was on the wrestling team that were State Champions for two years. He was on the track team that was State Champions for three years. He also was on the baseball team. When he came here he had almost all green material, because Caney High did not get to have football last year. Campbell was liked by all the boys who worked under him as he taught them the meaning of self sacrifice, team work and sportsmanship. He had one of the cleanest teams in the league

CLIFFORD STERLING. Capt

Left Tackle

Cliff" has finished three years of foot ball for Caney High, playing a stellar game at tackle. Cliff made a fine captain, and he was liked by everyone on the squad. He was a sure tackler and hard hitter. He could be depended upon to do his part in opening a hole. This gave Cliff the position at tackle on the All Val ley First Team. His place will be missed a great deal next year.

VERNER BRADFORD

Weight 133 lbs.

Height 5' 8"

Left Guard

This is Verner's first year of football for Caney High and while not playing regularly, he played enough to get a letter and always did his part well when sent in. Verner will return next year and take up the game again.

ARTHUR STREIN

Right Guard

Weight 160 lbs.

Height 5' 7"

Arthur played his first year at guard. He was always on the job and ready to do his part. He was a worthy opponent for the best in the league.

JOHNNY JARVIS

Right End

Weight 125 lbs.

Height 5' 10"

Johnny played his first year for Caney High. He was a good man, light but fast, and played the game from start to finish. His many catches of forward passes added many substantial gains to the list. This is Jarvis' last year and he will be missed badly from next year's squad.

CHESTER DOSS

Weight 148 lbs.

Height 5' 10"

Quarterback

Chet played his first year of football for Caney High at quarterback. Chet's headwork and football sense proved valuable to the football teams this season. Chet will be back next year to hold down quarterback position again.

CHARLES MILLS

Weight 140 lbs.

Height 5' 10 $\frac{1}{2}$

Right Tackle

Charles played an excellent game of football this season, having received some experience last year. He graduates this year and Caney is looking for another good tackler to take his place

ROBERT RARDON

Weight 147 lbs.

Height 5' 10 $\frac{1}{2}$

Left Half-back

This was Robert's first year. He was a steady ball lugger and could always be depended upon to get his man

ROBERT KANNARD

Weight 130 lbs.

Height 5' 8

Left Guard

Bob" played his first year at guard. Although small, he might be termed as "little and mighty", as he was a good player on both of fense and defense

LESLIE GORDON

Weight 160 lbs.

Height 5' 11

Center

Leslie did not start playing until late in the season. But he proved himself a capable center on both offense and defense

AUSTIN MARTIN

Weight 142 lbs.

Height 5' 10

Left End

"Aussy" played his first year on the team. He always had his eyes open for forward passes and accounted for many gains.

RICHARD FRANKS

Weight 168 lbs.

Height 6' 0

Full Back

Richard played a class of football that was hard to beat. His trusty "booting toe" could always be depended upon to place the pigskin in safe territory.

JIM NOLAN

Weight 160 lbs.

Height 6' 0

Right Half back

This was Jim's first year on the team. Although his interference made him a valuable man, he could always be depended upon. He will be back next year with the same old fighting spirit.

EARL SWANK

Weight 142 lbs.

Height 5' 9

Swanky" was out of most of the early part of the season, because of a badly injured ankle. He was a dependable player and will leave a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

Basketball Squad

Ray Davis played a forward the last semester. He is a real forward. This is his first year and he has two more years to play for Caney

Donald Hansen played his first year at guard but made good from the first. He was an accurate goal shooter. He will be back another year

Jack Oliver, too, played his first year, this year. He is a center and he showed he could get the tipoff practically every time. He made his share of the points, too. He will return next season

Jim Nolan, playing his first year as a regular forward, was high point man for Caney. He will be back again next year and it is hoped he will still have his remarkable goal shooting ability

Robert Rardon's remarkable guarding and excellent shooting, made him one of the best in the valley. Next year will see him again playing for Caney

Chester Doss subbed at guard, playing in most of the games and making a letter. "Chet's" floor work and goal shooting made him a valuable man. We are glad Chet has one more year to play for Caney high

Chas. Lingle played at guard in enough games to make his letter. He is not quite so tall as some of the boys but is fast and is very good on the floor. This is Charles' last year

Leslie Gordon played at center most of the time this being his first year for Caney. Few times were his opponents able to get the tipoff from him. Although he was not one of the regulars he played enough to get a letter. Leslie too, will be back next year.

Coach Campbell hopes for a good team and a victorious season next year because he has most of this squad back and more good men coming.

Richard Franks was playing his second year for Caney. He is a Sophomore and that means he will play again next year. Dick is a good player wherever he is used and will make a strong member of the team next year. He was second high man this year.

Earl Swank played his last year for our high school, as a forward. He will be missed as he could always be called upon when a few points were needed.

Other players who were used in some of the games this season including the second team games were John Jarvis a senior, Dale Campbell a sophomore, Raymond Arnold, a sophomore, and Otto Skinner, a sophomore.

Basketball

With a new squad and a new coach, Caney high did well to win 11 out of 20 games played. Six of the South Central Kansas league games were won while three were lost. Only two men, Swank and Lingle, do not return next year so Caney, with many new men coming on, should have a real team next year. Caney lost the first game to Gridley in the district tournament, but Gridley was one of the strongest teams there.

The Kane Kan is the year book published by the Seniors of the Caney High School. A staff is selected early in the senior year which group of boys and girls has charge of the work done.

The name Kane Kan has been given the annual for several years having been adopted as a permanent name. Each year the students try to get out a book that is different.

The staff of the 1930 Kane-Kan hope you will like the book this year.

The students of the Caney High School publish a school paper every two weeks of the school year. The work is done for extra-curricular activity credit, outside of regular class work. Mrs. Thompson has direct charge of the paper but has been assisted by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Tayman.

The paper carries enough advertisements from local business men to pay for the printing. This gives some of the students practical experience getting the advertisements and collecting the money for them. The staff feels grateful for the loyal support given it this year.

The Senior Play

"Oh! Kay," the Senior Play, was presented Thursday, March 20, 1930 in the High School Auditorium.

This three-act comedy was filled with real entertainment, which was presented in its effective way because of the efforts of Mrs. Tayman, who so capably directed it with something going on every minute.

"Gramp" with his flivver and never ending accessories, and "Gram" with her habit of trying every patent medicine on the market, were a couple of comedy roles which furnished hundreds of laughs. These parts were played by Chas. Mills and Dortha Froebe.

Mrs. Whitman, who was always careful to remind "Gramp" of his age, and took all precautions to keep the men in the house from getting hurt. Mrs. Whitman was Orlena Bennett.

Arthur Whitman, who thought he was grown up, but was always under "petticoat rule." Elwyn Ayres played this part.

Edith Whitman, a story writer, and caused a great deal of emotions just to see how people act when they get scared. This part was taken by Yvonne Lambiotte.

Kay Millis was successful in capturing the Black Terrors, and capturing the heart of Arthur Whitman. Cora Jean Hepner was Kay Millis.

The Black Terror had the misfortune of being captured in his own home, and was proved to be Mr. Whitman, who had just returned home from a sea voyage in South America. We are sure you know who he was—Charles Lingle.

Captain George Whitman, who was attacked by Black Terror, and locked in in the wood shed. But finally escaped. Captain Whitman was Jim Townsell.

Alice Borden, friend of Edith's, posing as the Black Terror trying to help Edith. Letha Roberts was Miss Borden.

Jim Hayes, a friend of "Gramps", a Black Terror who helped "Gramp" prove he was capable and brave. Jim Hayes was represented by John Jarvis.

Fred Alden, also a "Black Terror," was Art's friend, who was going to convince them that he was grown up. Calvin Cooper took the part of Fred Alden.

Music

The Caney schools have always featured music, both in the high school and in the grades. The past two years the work has been carried out especially well under the supervision of Neil Hollis, a graduate of the Kansas City University.

This year Mr. Hollis was able to give more time to band and orchestra and to his high school work because of the employment of a grade school supervisor, Miss Wilda Dunbar. The band and orchestra had a period for rehearsal each day, while the glee clubs, boys' and girls, met every other day.

The music department had many special groups and several soloists who furnished music for school and community events. The special programs given on Sunday afternoons by the various groups were well attended and given.

Donald Hansen, clarinet, Jack Oliver, violin, Billy McBurney, cello, entered the music contests at Southwestern College, Donald winning a second place.

The Girls' Glee club won third and the orchestra first at Pittsburg. Donald Hansen played a clarinet solo. At Emporia the Boys' Glee club sang in the group contests and Kathryn Hiltord and Betty Jennings sang solos. Jack Oliver, violin, Billy McBurney, cello, and Woodrow Leach, flute, played.

Several of the members of the high school band have been invited to play with the city band while the better of the players of the Junior high school band are rewarded by being permitted to play in the high school band.

The work of the department is bringing out the talent of the school and the quality of music played is getting better each year. Each of the musical organizations take several good trips which helps to create more interest in music. While we have a good enrollment in music in the high school, it is hoped next year there will be many more. Especially it is desired to strengthen the boys' glee club. More trips and more special events are planned for the music department next year. Music should be a part of every person's education, if that education is to be balanced. Mr. Hollis says it is possible for about ninety per cent of every student body to become musicians, if these persons really try.

"The Golden Trail"

Don Carlos Alvarado (with his only daughter, Barbarita, and friends) is obliged to stop at Mike's Golden Trail Hotel enroute to a a double birthday celebration at Sonora. He finds Don Pedro Carranza with ranchero followers already arrived at Mike's and learns that an emigrant train from the far east is expected. Soon after his arrival, Smiling Charlie, a friend of the family and a pony express rider, is chased in by bandits with his consignment of gold dust. Charlie's danger crystalizes Barbarita's feelings to those of deep love and a mutual avowal takes place that evening. Later, bandits arrive, enter the hotel, bind Charlie and apparently make off with the gold consignment, and they also take Carmela which is one of Don Carlos' party. Charlie is finally freed.

The second act opens with a gay celebration of the emigrants over their safe arrival in California. Don Carlos' servants refuse to proceed to Sonora fearing bandits and he decides to hold Barbarita's birthday celebration at the hotel, which he announces the following day and also his daughter's betrothal to Charlie. It is planned that Barbarita will wear the Alvarado family jewels and that a betrothal dance will take place on her birthday.

Everybody attends the sports at the emigrant encampment, leaving Charlie on guard. Dead shot Dick, his sworn enemy, appears with some miners and lays a false charge of theft and murder against Charlie. Charlie is only saved from the fate of hanging by Trapper Joe, with his protégé Ted appearing to cover the miners with rifles and rescue him. Dick is suspected by Charlie of being the bandit chief, and that night he organizes an armed posse of emigrants and leads them against the bandit rendezvous upon information given by Carmela who has escaped.

The third act opens upon Barbarita's birthday with Charlie still absent and Barbarita fearing much for his safety. With just a few men about, Don Pedro summons his supposed rancheros, declares himself the dreaded bandit leader, Murieta with dead shot Dick as his lieutenant, and demands both gold and the Alvarado family jewels of Don Carlos. By a ruse Carmela delays him until Charlie and his band return with Dick a prisoner. The tables are now turned: the gold consignment is recovered, the betrothal dance takes place and a very happy finale closes the play.

Junior Jollies

The Class of '31 presented the Junior Jollies on board "The Majestic" February 25, 1930.

A popularity contest was given for the most popular boy and girl in the Caney high school. Each class choose their representatives. Freshman Kathleen Gibbs and Sammy Doss. Sophomore Almida Roe and Richard Franks. Junior Pauline McQuacken and Jim Nolan. Seniors Yvonne Lambotte and Charles Lingle. The Juniors won and Pauline and Jim were made the object of "The Surprise on board the Majestic," by presenting each with a gift.

The setting was cleverly staged on a deck and was first shown with the Junior guests singing their peppy sailor song. The guests were entertained throughout the evening by dances to the Sailors, Hawaiians, Tappers, Dream Girls, Tappers and Fancy Fencers. The Novelty Tumblers proved themselves capable as well as the "Loving Lunatics" in an unusual and different skit. The Fashions were modeled for Murphy's, Goddens, Daniels, Clothing Store, and Merrill Clothing store by pretty and handsome students. A violin solo was given by Leslie Scoville from Celleville, besides the music furnished by the Hawaiian Trio and accompanists.

Captain Woodrow Leach cleverly announced the entertainers with the assistance of Lieutenant Elwyn Ayres as interference.

Pretty costumes, clever acting, beautiful and peppy dancing, unusual stunts, music, fun and jokes, all spelled success for the Junior Jollies. The event was directed by Miss Francis and Mrs. Fryman and assisted by Junior sponsors with the hearty co-operation of Caney high students.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held in the high school gymnasium Friday evening April 8 at 6:45 at which time the Juniors as Indians entertained their "Japanese" friends by giving an Indian pow-wow.

The feature of the evening was the entertainment furnished by two Osage Indians Raymond and Douglas Red Corn of Pawhuska and Mr. Harland of Tulsa University. They danced, told fables and interpreted songs.

The gymnasium was decorated in a manner characteristic to the Indian theme of the evening. Quartet tables were placed within a large wigwam of crepe paper of many couples. In the center of the wigwam was a small pool with canoes and Indians on and near it. Outside the wigwam were a totem pole, canoe, moss trees and other decorations. Lighting was from tinted lights from the ceiling and candles on the table.

A small tepee was in the center of each table. Small canoes were used as namecups and a small paddle with the name burned upon it served as the place card. Behind each canoe stood a small Indian doll. The program was on a parchment scroll which had a feather tied to it.

The menu was quite Indian in style. It was:

	Fruit of the Woods
Buffalo Cuts		White Root
	Maize in Tymbales
	Pone
Wild Berries		White Man's Relish
	Indian Tom Toms
Indian Corn		Pale Face
Yum Yums		Nuts
	Cloudy Water

Woodrow Leach was toastmaster and handled the program well. The toasts given were:

- "The Last War Whoop"—Lewis Theiss
- "The Medicine Man"—Supt. J. R. Popkins
- "The Wampum Belt"—F. G. Keiser
- "The Happy Hunting Ground"—Dorothy Kuper
- "Feathers and War Paint"—Dortha Froebe.

The Class of 1930 felt they were royally entertained by the Class of 1931 at this banquet.

Senior Class History

Four years ago in September, 1927, a Japanese Junk named "Education" began its long voyage on the sea of "Ki Chong". When this Junk left Port Freshman it had four stops to make before its journey would be complete. They were Sophomore Harbor, Port Junior and Port Senior and then pass out of Graduation Gate.

During their first part of the journey there were fifty-seven members on board and their sponsors were Miss Berger, Miss White and Mr. Mathews. The officers were President, Dorris Pendleton, Vice President, Colleen Goodbar, Secretary-Treasurer, Fletcher Hilton.

Freshman initiation was by the all-school party and after initiation they seemed quite capable, having members in debate, orchestra, band and on the paper staff.

Now anchoring at Sophomore Harbor, a vacation was enjoyed. But again on Sept. 5, forty passengers left the harbor and continued their journey. The advisors were Miss Berger, Miss Coon and Mr. Roberts. The leaders chosen were Geneva Hale as President, Charles Lingle, Vice President, John Jarvis, Secretary, and Orlena Bennett, Treasurer.

Among the events enjoyed were the All School party and on Feb. 14th a Valentine Party.

The Sophomores took part in the events of the school because now they were upper class men. There were Sophomores in the band and orchestra. Many members were in the glee clubs, operetta, debate and paper staff.

Port Junior was now reached and labor was cast aside for vacation. When the passengers again boarded the Junk there were thirty-eight in the group. The sponsors were Miss Berger, Miss Francis and Mr. Roberts. The class officers chosen were President, Dortha Froebe, Vice President, Cora Jean Hepner, Secretary, Elwyn Ayres, and Treasurer, Calvin Cooper.

We attended the All School Party and entertained the Seniors with a Halloween Party.

We were not what one could term "wealthy"—so in order to get the necessary funds to give the Seniors a banquet, we gave a carnival and tollies which was a great success—enough so that we were able to give the dignified Seniors a most glorious banquet on April 5. The Junk was very appropriately designed in Japanese style and the San Lovee Ladies, noted dancers of old Japan consented to dance for us.

The Nakenak staff contained four Juniors and nine of these famous people were in the orchestra and band. Four of us were in the Playmaker Play and Junior musical talent was displayed in the glee clubs, quartettes and operetta.

By having some of the Juniors in these events we decided we had closed the year quite successfully as we dropped anchor at Port Senior.

Again we boarded the Junk in September but now our number was only twenty-six; which accounted for our motto: "Not Quantity but Quality."

Our sponsors were Miss Berger, Miss Francis and Mr. Roberts. The class officers were:

LEWIS THEISS	President
CHARLES LINGLE	Vice President
CORA JEAN HEPNER	Sec.-Treas.

The Senior Play, "Oh Kay" was given March 18

Among our amusements were the Hallowe'en Party given us by the Juniors. On April 1 we all turned Hoboes and enjoyed a half day holiday in the park at Bartlesville. On April 18, was the Junior-Senior Banquet and the Seniors were the guests.

Six Seniors were in the orchestra and band and also in the chorus classes.

In the Playmaker Play were: Dortha Froebe, Yvonne Lambiotte, Cora Jean Hepner, Elwyn Ayres and Charles Mills.

Now being Seniors upon the Junk, it was necessary to have some sort of a mark of distinction. This was given them by their rings which far surpassed all other previous Senior rings. They were characteristically Japanese.

The Seniors had a special day on May 8. This was their last appearance before their fellow classmates and preparations were made for the departure of these famous passengers from the Junk who would return only as guests.

Graduation Gate was now in view and when the Junk sailed through the Seniors, having spent four years in preparation, were able to go into the unknown sea quite accomplished others thinking themselves not as learned and wise as they might be took up further education so they could be called wise men.

So the journey ended quite successfully for those who had been faithful to complete it. The water they would sail on would be fairly smooth but those who had not stayed with the Junk "Education" were doomed to have rough sailing.

Senior Class Prophecy

While resting in my garden in Japan I feel tempted to let my thoughts wander to the days when I was happiest. Who could help but dream in such surroundings? This wonderful old garden has more delicacy than exoticness of beauty. Feathery grasses more than man-tall sway film-like in tiny buffets of wind so slight that only such feathers can feel it for wind. Wisteria clings to arches hidden by its green violet profusion arches twisted and repeated something torii and pai-fang in shape. Late summer violets, incredibly sweet, tiny, pink and white lilies, sweeter than the violets are peeping up everywhere, curling knotted ribbons of sandal wood must run like body rivulets through the grass; wind flowers and tulips make pools of rainbow here and there; great roomy stone benches carved into lace and embroidery command you to look, proclaim their own costliness gravely tempt you to rest and to lounge a green silken stream runs under a camel back bridge of gleaming cut and interlaced red marble half smothered in honey suckle jasmine. But it is the exquisite sweep of the great walled garden its wonton unexpected turns and twists loops and bends; its trees and the sparkling sky above it that makes its chief loveliness. An imperial garden!

This astonishing garden carries me back to something—but I cannot clearly think, as yet, what it is. Ah, yes! the Japanese garden where we had our Junior-Senior banquet when I was in high school. That was in 1929. Years ago, but I see it plainly now, very plainly. Ah! how well I remember that Lewis Theiss, our class president in 1930, gave a toast at our banquet. What is that I hear?—music from a radio. It has stopped now and I hear the announcer saying, "You will now hear the president of the United States make a talk to the high school seniors of the world. His topic will be 'The Aims of the High School Senior.'—President Theiss."

Page Sixty

Something about that topic sounds familiar. I can hear Lewis' masterful voice now. What is he saying? He is saying, "The first talk I ever made was at a Junior-Senior banquet. My topic being, 'The Aims of C. H. S.', which carries my thoughts back to my high school days." He too, remembers our banquet. What an interesting speech. Am I dreaming or do I really hear the announcer say that, "We will at this time hear the first woman vice president of the United States give a few words to the Seniors of the world. She will endeavor to show them how 'Perseverance' is an important factor to practice in life. You will now hear Miss Roberts. Just a word—'it will be interesting to everyone to know that the wedding date of President Theiss and Vice President Roberts has been set for March 5, the day after their term of office expires." Oh! how wonderful to hear again from my high school classmates and to think they hold so prominent a place in their country. The music—the radio—they're gone. But what joy they brought me the few minutes they were here.

I see before my eyes, dimly, Oh! very dimly, but I'm sure it's there—a little mission church. It is becoming plainer now, much plainer. I now can see two missionaries—a man and a woman, and several little Japanese children dressed in gorgeously flowered kimonos trying to catch the wonderfully colored butterflies. The features of that missionary look fairly familiar. I'm sure I've seen that blonde hair and that mustache some place. Can it be? No—yes, it is my old classmate Benny McNroy. Why did that mustache look so familiar? He never wore one while he was in high school. Oh! yes—he always donned a mustache made of crepe hair when he was in a play, and well I remember how he hated them.

I'm going over to talk with Benny, or Rev. McNroy as I suppose he is now called. Oh! he must be the Rev. McNroy about whom I hear little Yo Ki, in the kindergarten Sunday School talk so much. I must hurry right over to talk with Benny at once. Why, where is the little mission church I saw? It had faded away. There is only a small dwelling place in a network of courtyards filled with wonderful flowers and surely enough gorgeous butterflies. Japan is the home of the butterflies. The lovely delicate things flutter past me singly, by twos, and in companies, soft pearl grays, spotted, striped, and rain-bowed. The ones around that dwelling place are gigantic, marvelously colored, swift moths, pale blue hurbreaks, coppers, numberless cocoon spinning families reside there. Who is that queer looking creature with the net? Oh! he must be a naturalist trying to catch those delicate fluttering butterflies. They're always doing that. Oh! I can see him straight in the face now. Why, why, it's Alfred Williamson. He used to be in my biology class. Well, I remember our field trips and better still our bug collection.

Ah! again I hear music. So soft and yet so sweet. What can it be? Oh! I can see an opera. Yes, 'Madame Butterfly' is being played before my very eyes, such singing and acting I never saw before. Why, 'Madame Butterfly' is being played by none other than Yvonne Lambiotte. I see another familiar face in the cast. Someone with a scar on his nose. Why yes, it's Charles Ling, the sea captain. There's something, surely, Charles was a captain in our Senior play.

The buzz of an airplane comes to my ears. Why, the plane is landing. The pilot is getting out. It's a woman, people are rushing over to her. Oh! yes, she has just completed the first non stop round the world flight. I heard it over the radio yesterday. The foreign minister from the United States is congratulating her. His features look familiar. They are—why it's Calvin Cooper the American foreign minister in Japan. Why I know that woman. She is Lila Brown. How happy I am to think one of my fellow classmen should make the first successful round the world flight.

THE KANE KAN.

They have faded from my sight and I now see the campus of a college—Harvard. I can see the president's office. Why, I know the president of that college. I've seen that face before. It's Elwyn Ayres. What a perfect college president he makes. He is in conference. Why, one of the curators is Earl Swank and another one of them is William Nation.

I can see a football game. So exciting. The score is tied and only two minutes to play. One of the players has been hurt. They are carrying him off the field. It's one of Yale's men. His coach is going to him. Why, I know that coach. He is Clifford Sterling and I remember that he was captain of our football team in 1930.

Oh! I can see my old home town—Caney. How it has grown and changed since I attended school there. I can see many of the Seniors of '30 there now. Charles Clark and Harold Sanders are leading business men. Harold is selling Pierce Arrow and Ford cars and has one of the largest Agencies in the middle west. Charles has a large department store specializing in women's clothing and hats. I can see Arlene Simpson, who now married, is a sophisticated society leader. Clyde White is superintendent of schools and Howard Buerecy is president of the school board. Oh! I see some graduates of '30 in the faculty too. Naomi Walker is teaching Dramatic Art and Spanish in the High School. Ellen Harris is Physical Ed. instructor and Orlena Bennett is supervisor of the kindergarten.

A different picture comes to me. It is dim yet familiar looking. I see a sophisticated looking woman walking down the street. Why that woman is Harriett Shelton—only her name isn't Shelton now. I see it now. Harriett is living in Tyro. Oh yes, and she is political "boss" there.

Oh! I've traveled very swiftly. I can now see the office of the "Paris Times", the leading newspaper in Europe. In the circulation department I see Jim Townsell. I'm sure Jim got his experience for this position while he was in High School, delivering papers. In the editing department I see Cora Jean Hepner. She is editor-in-chief. She is married to Charles—as was expected, but since Charles' dramatic ability takes him away from home most of the time, Cora Jean keeps herself busy by doing something that she enjoys very much.

Another vision appears—a basketball team listening to instructions from their coach. The captain of the team looks familiar to me. Why, it's John Jarvis. I can see Johnny again now in Africa training elephants. I wonder—Oh yes I see it all. He plays basketball in winter, trains elephants in summer.

I'm in Hollywood now and I can see someone whose face I seem to recognize. Why yes, it is Charles Mills who with his saxophone is taking the place of the late Rudy Vallee and his saxophone in the movies.

I see, very dimly, another movie actress. I can't think just who it is though. Ah! it is Floy McKinney who graduated from C. H. S. in 1930.

How wonderful to hear from my very dear classmates again. What joy my gorgeous garden has given me. In one afternoon I have traveled all over the world and have seen once more my friends.

Oh! what is that? A butterfly with beautiful gauzy wings resting placidly on my nose. Why, I must have been dreaming. I have, but what a wonderful and joyful dream.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1930 of Caney High School, in the County of Montgomery State of Kansas in full possession of sound mind and memory and of knowledge do make this our last will and testament hereby revoking all others.

Item I—To the Juniors we bequeath our reputation for having a superiority complex, because if they don't acquire it from us they will get it some other way.

Item II—To the Sophomores we leave our ability to evade the ninth hour study hall at least once a week.

Item III—We leave to the Freshmen only loving and tender words of advice acquired through four long years of work and experience. Do not tremble at the stern look of the Superintendent and teachers for they are all smiles when your back is turned. Have your lessons well prepared. Be always ready and anxious to recite and may you close your high school course with the same standard and dignity as the Seniors of 1930.

Item IV—We do bequeath to the faculty one night each six weeks free from nervousness and headache to be spent in placing 1 or 1— on all their grade cards. The other nights are to be spent in pleasant dreams, or in whatever they want to do.

Item V—We will to Mrs. Jarvis, our efficient librarian, all our old books and notebooks, now useless to us, because we think the marginal notes may prove interesting.

Item VI—To Mr. Jesson, our much loved and highly respected janitor, we leave our kindest of thoughts and very best wishes.

We do will and bequeath our individual talents as follows:

I, Elwyn Ayres, bestow upon Robert Lee my vocabulary.

I, Orlena Bennett, grant my speed in typewriting to Paulyne McQuillen, whose ambition is to be the world's champion typist.

I, Lila Brown, do bestow upon Helen Toner, my gracefulness.

I, Howard Burgey, will my reputation as a bluff to Evelyn Gilham, so she may avoid so much hard study.

I, Calvin Cooper, leave Allene to any one who thinks he can go with her.

I, Ellen Harris, do bestow my stature as a gift to Violet Smoley.

I, Cora Jean Hepner, bequeath my originality and clever ideas to Leona Thornton, in order to keep it in Caney High.

I, John Jarvis, do bequeath my basketball career to Dale Campbell because I think he envies it.

I, Yvonne Lambiotte, leave my place in "Pansy" to Kathryn Hilford, provided she doesn't let John Jarvis put her out and make her walk back.

I, Charles Lingle, will my beautiful curls to Jack Oliver, along with a bottle of hair oil and my last request is that some member of the faculty (no preference) give Jack a ninth hour study hall every time he refuses to use the hair oil.

I, Charles Mills, bequeath my place in the Senior Play to anyone who thinks he is capable of doing it.

I, Ben McIntire, do leave to John Rounds my ability to graduate from Caney High in five years.

I, Naomi Walker, bestow upon Harry Dummond my reputation as a short-hand shark.

I, William Nation, grant to Leman Burris my ability to make a 1 in everything.

THE KANE KAN.

To Paulyne McQuillen, I, Letha Roberts, leave my quiet manners.

I, Harold Sanders, grant my ambition to be a soap box orator to Wayne Brewer.

I, Harriett Shelton, leave my pamphlet on "how to get fat" to Pauline Gause.

I, Arlene Simpson, bequeath my ability to argue with Mr. Haymaker to Margaret Lambdin.

I, Earl Swank, have nothing which I care to leave in Caney High, except Honora, and I dare anyone to try to get her.

I, Lewis Theiss, leave my job of being president of the Senior Class, to any one who thinks "speech-making" is a snap.

I, Jim Townsell, bequeath my beautiful hair to Woodrow Leach.

To Kenneth Cook, I, Clyde White, grant my gracefulness.

I, Alfred Williamson, leave my Ford to LeRoy Eaks.

Of all my possessions I, Clifford Sterling, have only 15c left, which I bequeath to Arthur in order to keep it in the family.

Junior History

In the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, the month of September there came to the plains of Caney High School a courageous tribe of braves and squaws. During this year our tribe did not venture far from the camp duties under the supervision of the three counselors.

In the second year of our Camp we gained more knowledge and higher honors over the preceding year.

This our third year we feel we have successfully borne our tribal banners of red and blue—bravery and truth.

We sponsored a booth at the Armistice Day Celebration, gave numerous Chapels, parties and entertainments including the Junior Jollies.

We have entertained the passengers of the Japanese Junk who have arrived at Port Senior with the Hallowe'en Party and the outstanding event of the year—the Indian Pow Wow.

As our tribal leaders we chose Chester Doss, Great Chief; Betty Jennings, Chief; Verner Bradford, Secretary; Virgie Copeland, Treasurer.

At the close of another year our tribe looks forward to 1931—the last days of our encampment at Caney High.

Sophomore History

On September 2 we Freshmen became entangled in the ice jam of Caney high school and have now succeeded in diminishing to a small degree the difficulties lying between us and our desired pole, graduation.

We survived our initiation in the gymnastic igloo despite the severe obstacles of this region.

Our advisors were: Miss Kahn, Mr. Boyles and Mr. Hollis, and we chose for our leaders: President, Raymond Arnold, Vice President, Drexel Baker, Secretary, Honor Nolan, Treasurer, Verna Virgin, before pushing on further into this ice land.

Our class is proud of the fact that two of its members weathered the head winds and ice-jams of debate. We are also elated over the fact that our belle, Almeda Ree, was maid of honor at the Junior Jollies. Likewise the Freshman class was well represented in the operetta and also at the music contest in Independence.

This year we had a glorious Valentine Festival and in the numbing cold we were a group warmed by vivacity.

In spite of the mists, winds and ice on September 3, 1929, we Sophomores were still gliding along in the icy plains of Caney high school to reach our goal.

The northern lights who guided us safely over the thin ice were: Mrs. Taysman, Miss York and Mr. Hollis.

We were led on by our bold officers: President, Raymond Arnold, Vice President, Kathleen Fitzpatrick, Secretary, Zelma Penfield, and Treasurer, Kathryn Sircoulomb.

Some of our fellow comrades were members of some of the regional arts such as the Playmakers and Latin Societies and some of us have taken part in the entertainments such as the Playmaker Play and the operetta. This was good for us for the experience of being equipped to overcome the icebergs and glaciers of fears which will help us in our later exploration after we have reached our destination, the pole. For further experience a band of us worked like madmen breaking the ice for Nakenak editions.

Many of the crew labored in band, orchestra and chorus and received the promised trip to Emporia.

The storm raged and finally abated and so we sent our stars, Almeda Ree and Richard Franks to the Junior Jollies.

Successful thus far we were in high spirits and all met on tip toe with expectations and celebrated with our Sophomore party. We had a glorious time and were forgetful for a time of the hardships of the cold and storm on our journey thus far.

The deep peace of accomplishment sinks upon us and we shall toil on and the harvest will come. These long moonlit polar nights with all their yearning will be like a dream that has come and passed away.

Log of S. S. Freshmen

On September 3, 1929, a sturdy and staunch new Steam Ship, christened the "Freshmen", was launched upon a four year cruise of the Educational Sea.

The personnel of the ship was: Carl Soden, Captain; John Rounds, First Mate; Kathleen Gibbs, Purser; Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Campbell, Pilots. The crew numbered sixty-nine.

During the first year of the voyage, the crew engaged in many activities.

The Nakenak Staff claimed Pauline Gause as Freshman reporter and several others helped with the paper in various capacities.

One of the big events of the year was the annual All-School party at which the "S. S. Freshmen" was initiated and welcomed into the High School Fleet. Later in the year the crew enjoyed a picnic of its own on the banks of the Cancy River.

The ship did its share in entertaining the entire fleet by presenting several interesting chapels.

Members of the crew were actively engaged in the fleet's athletics. Carl Soden was captain of the Freshmen basketball team and others were members of the squad.

In the music department, the "S. S. Freshmen" was well represented, both band and orchestra claiming a number of the crew. The Operetta offered by the music department claimed two members in its cast: Gerald Patchen and Carl Soden.

The Ship chose Kathleen Gibbs, Mary B. Daniels, Alice Sternberg, Ruth Hale, Treva Dancer, and Pauline Gause as Peppercettes.

A Revere, "The Junior Jollies" sponsored by an Indian tribe, the Juniors, was presented in March and the crew of the Freshmen sent several entertainers to help make the project a success.

High Flyers, presented by the Playmakers, found Alice Sternberg playing a prominent part. Others of the crew ably helped in its production.

Unusually fair weather was enjoyed on this first year voyage, excepting when in January and May they were delayed by strong winds which might have terminated in hurricanes but for the bravery and sturdiness of the crew.

On May 16, 1930, the first year voyage of the S. S. Freshmen was ended and she was put in dry dock for her annual overhauling.

Our Advertisers

Throughout the next few pages advertisements of Caney concerns will be found. Without these advertisements this annual would be impossible.

The Kane Kan staff asks that the buyers of the annuals remember these loyal business firms when considering purchases because it is by boosting those who help us that all will be benefited.

The staff wishes the advertisers to know that they appreciate their patronage.

Chas. Lingle—The glaciers brought them down.

Jones—But where are the glaciers?

Lingle—They have gone back after more rocks.

A patient in a hospital awoke after an operation and found the blinds of his room drawn.

The story you should know!

Now while he slept a bone he lost,
A bone from out his side.
The bone was set upon one end
And covered o'er with hide.

Some arms and legs were next hooked on
And Eve began to walk!
Some ears and teeth were then tacked on,
And Eve began to talk!

But if this bone was from his side
A soup bone it must be.
And happens that the years till now

A HUNDRED YEARS TO COME

*Who'll press for gold this crowded street,
A hundred years to come?
Who'll tread yon church with willing feet,
A hundred years to come?
Pale, trembling age and fiery youth,
And childhood with its brow of truth,
The rich and poor, on land, on sea,
Where will the mighty millions be,
A hundred years to come?*

*We all within our graves shall sleep,
A hundred years to come;
No living soul for us will weep,
A hundred years to come.
But other men our land will till,
And others then our street will fill,
And other words will sing as gay,
And bright the sunshine as to-day,
A hundred years to come.*

—William Goldsmith Brown.

Friends of Mine

*He who has a thousand friends, has not a friend to spare
And he who has one enemy, will meet him everywhere.—Emerson.*

Friends of Mine

The worst solitude is to have no true friendships. Bacon
